1. [] one antiaircraft gun was on top of a building on the west bank of the Hai River. The building was used as a bank during the Japanese occupation of Tientsin in World War II. A woman wearing a black uniform with no insignia and carrying a submachine gun guarded the door on the ground floor of the building.
 2. [] there were four artillery pieces, believed to be antiaircraft guns, on top of a five-story building. On the front of the building were painted characters that read "Tung An (3057/1344) Cotton Mill Warehouse." The building was to the left (sic) of the Huangp'u Wharf in Shanghai.
